Tenure-Track Faculty in the Department of Basic Sciences with specialization in Pharmacology

The Department of Basic Sciences at The Commonwealth Medical College invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position. Successful candidates will demonstrate scholarly activity and a record of medical and graduate education in Pharmacology. Although all areas of pharmacology will be considered, preference will be given to candidates with expertise in cardiopulmonary pharmacology or neuropharmacology.

Duties: The successful candidate will be expected to work with an interdisciplinary team of educators from other basic science disciplines, as well as clinical faculty, to enhance and implement an innovative and integrated biomedical education curriculum. Faculty are expected to participate broadly across the curricula in both the medical and graduate programs, and engage in scholarly research in areas of biomedical science, medical education, or community-oriented research. Additional duties include course administration and contributions to institutional/departmental governance and service.

Academic Rank/Salary: The successful candidate will hold an academic appointment in the Department of Basic Sciences. Rank is dependent upon applicant’s qualifications but may be at the level of Assistant or Associate Professor.

Qualifications: All applicants must have a Ph.D., M.D., or equivalent degree at the time of appointment. Preference will be given to those with experience in teaching medical pharmacology, medical education and course administration. Evidence of biomedical or education research productivity is desired.

To Apply: Please submit a single PDF attachment which includes a cover letter, curriculum vitae, brief statements of research and teaching interests, reprints of up to three recent publications (or citations in the literature), and the names and contact information of three references. In order to ensure full consideration, the application must be received by 12/31/16. Questions may be directed to Dr. John Arnott, search committee chair, jarnott@tcmc.edu

TCMC is a fully-accredited allopathic medical school located in northeastern Pennsylvania. It offers a community-oriented, patient-centered, and evidence-based medical education curriculum. The educational program is distributed across a 17 county region of northeastern Pennsylvania with regional campus sites in Scranton (North campus), Wilkes-Barre (South campus), Williamsport (West campus), and Sayre (Guthrie campus). The Basic Sciences curriculum is delivered primarily at the North campus. The medical college enjoys considerable regional support for its educational mission, research, and service. For more information on TCMC as well as its mission and values, please visit http://www.tcmc.edu.

Contact person: Kim Padden, HR Generalist/HRIS Manager
The Commonwealth Medical College
525 Pine Street, Scranton, PA 18509
TCMC is an equal opportunity employer